CAMERON, MILAM COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 21, 1947

NUMBER 15

Trinidad, Colo.

We saw our first snow capped mountains late this afternoon from our cabin home far upon a hillside overlooking the sombre red city of Trinidad. This range is the Sangre de Cristo and sometimes called the Spanish Peaks. They lie in an unbroken range as far away as Denver and claim 6 peaks that are more than 14 thousand feet in altitude. Pikes Peak is perhaps the most famous of these great mountains.

The arresting beauty of this range of mountains is best appreciated at sunrise or sunset. The snow in ribbons of pearl gird the jagged crests of these mountains and accentuates their crimson hue against the background of the blue distances. We recalled the Marine Corps song "From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli," as we stood for our first long look upon this enthralling spectacle of nature.

The Spaniards under Coronado were the first white men to gaze upon these peaks. And thereby lies a tale. The legend is that a soldier struck by the red glow of these mountains with their criss-crosses of snow exclaimed "Sangre de Cristo," which means The Blood of Christ. And they have been known since that far off day as the Sangre de Cristo range. Caught in the full glow of the setting sun they are like the deep sullen red of a city swept with flame.

A rain storm is breaking over the range and below in the city of Trinidad rain is peeping down and the wind is icy cold. I do not know how long we stood there drinking in this scene of splendor but darkness came too soon and we hustled inside to our blankets for a night of rest that seemed to compensate for all the torrid miles we had traveled to get to the Halls of Montezuma. The Spaniards were looking for gold. They never found it, but left a trail of blood to the Wyoming line as they met and pillaged the villages of the great Navajo and Pueblo nations, finally being wiped out in a last desperate battle as is so often the fate of the invader. This handbook of nature belonged to the Indian and one almost wishes that it had never been scarred or commercialized by the white man.

Trinidad is in the coal region of southern Colorado. The business district is as large as some Texas cities with 100,000 population though the city, largely populated by Mexicans has only ten thousand. The buildings are ornate, mostly of red brick and sandstone. There are many attractive hotels and smart shops and like all Colorado towns the streets are up and down the hills. Here the elevation is some 9000 feet and we are soon to see Pueblo and Colorado Springs, our destination.

Pueblo is the second largest city in Colorado and some 150 miles from Denver. It is called the Pittsburgh of the west because of the iron smelters and its proximity to the vast coal deposits. Pueblo is on the desert as is Colorado Springs, but within a few minutes drive you can reach 14 thousand foot altitudes. A short distance out from Pueblo a small sign points to the northwest. It reads "Pikes Peak," and so we see the glacier like crest of the great mountain first discovered by Zebulon M. Pike in 1806.

Colorado Springs

Although printed obscurely in one of those illustrated, alluring brochure's the tourist bureau leaves accidentally on your desk, I found this: "Colorado Springs has predominantly sunlit days and a great wealth of outdoor attractions within a short distance of this city where plain and mountain meet. The summer season is exceptionally long at this unique city on the fringe of the broken Rampart Range of the Rockies. Lying at an altitude of approximately 6000 feet, it is always cool in the shade, always warm in the sun."

Someone may have been unconsciously as honest as Mr. Heywood Brown. About the only summer rigor we missed were the chiggers and they had gone up on Pikes Peak to escape the heat below. Our destination is the Cliff House and so we finally get there. We are met at the outskirts of the city by Junior (turn to page four)

PEOPLE WILL VOTE SATURDAY

83 NEW STUDENTS TO ENROLL SEPTEMBER 8

Two school districts will discontinue local classes and transfer their pupils to Cameron. They are Salem and Walkers Creek.

There are 52 school children at Salem and 31 at Walkers Creek and if all attend the Cameron schools the enrollment here will be increased by 83. This will require the employment of another teacher. Bus transportation will also have to be provided.

Under the recent law districts must have at least a 50c maintenance tax before they are eligible for participation in state aid funds and apportionment funds. Five districts have increased their tax to that figure. They are Maysfield, Branchville, Salem, Ben Arnold and Clarkson.

The Salem district with a tax of only 5c voted to increase the tax there 70c and will purchase a bus and transfer pupils to Cameron.

The city council has under consideration a petition to admit a portion of the Curry district to the city where 10 pupils are involved. It was regarded as unlikely that the city will act favorably on the petition, as now being presented. Very little time is left before the beginning of the school term.

A new problem for Curry is presented. Another teacher may have to be provided and bus transportation as well as a large number of children, cut off from Cameron schools must now attend Curry School.

HEAVY FINES IMPOSED BY COUNTY JUDGE HERE

Heavy fines have been imposed by Judge Dan Tyson in county criminal court.

Records of recent proceedings of the court show the following cases were disposed of by Judge Tyson:

Johnnie Bell fined $25.00 and cost of court aggravated assault.

Enserio Diogas fined $50.00 and costs of court for drunk driving.

G. W. McLain fined $100.00 and costs of court for employing minor to sell liquor.

Peyton Glaze fined $200.00 and costs of court for driving while intoxicated.

Peyton Glaze fined $200.00 and costs of court for assault with motor vehicle.

Simon Valero fined $75.00 and costs of court for driving while intoxicated.

Juan Garcia aggravated assault $100.00 plus cost of court.

RAIN IS FALLING IN COAST REGION TO-DAY

Cloudy and possible rain with some north east winds were due in Cameron as a result of the tropical storm that was brewing in the Gulf and due to strike the coast of Florida.

Rain was falling at Houston, Galveston and as far as 50 miles or more inland early to-day.

The second tropical storm of the hurricane season was brewing in the Gulf of Mexico today, this one promising to do a bit of good.

Scientists stated that should the storm develop and its winds cause a recirculation of waters off the Florida west coast, a disastrous "red tide" which has killed millions of fish may be dissipated.

Grady Norton, chief forecaster of the weather bureau's storm warning service here, said the storm had the potentialities of a hurricane and its 40 to 50 mile winds were increasing in intensity. Its center was about 200 miles southwest of Key West, and was moving westward about eight miles an hour.

Dr. F. G. Walton Smith, director of the University of Miami marine laboratory, said the storm in its present location and its westward movement would prevent it from having any effect on the "red tides" which have caused catastrophic deaths among fish.

Cameron Youth Hurt In Ice Crusher

Kay Riley, small son of Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Riley of Cameron, was severely injured Sunday when his arm was accidentally caught in an ice crushing machine.

Rushed to St. Edward's Hospital, he was given immediate attention. Indications were he would not recover use of his arm for some time.

Physicians said that skin grafting might have to be resorted to to restore the limb. His hand and arm was badly mangled.

R. B. Rylander Is Up From Recent Injuries

R. B. Rylander has partially recovered from injuries six weeks ago at his dairy farm when attacked by a bull.

He has been in St. Edward's Hospital here and while he is much improved is still feeling the effects of the injuries. Mr. Rylander said the bull threw him in a fence and his back and hands were badly cut in the wire. Bodily injuries were also sustained.

26.49 COTTON LOAN BASIS ANNOUNCED

IS 92 PER CENT OF PARITY OF AUGUST 1

The government will lend farmers 26.49 cents per pound on their cotton if they want to pool it under the parity guarantee.

The new loan scale has just been announced. The price of 26.49 is 92 and a half per cent of the price of cotton on August 1 this year. The parity price was 28.64. The loan is on 7-8 inch middling staple cotton and gross weights are the basis for poundage.

The loan last year was 22.83 on the same staple and grade of cotton. The loan value on fifteen-sinthe staple is 27.94.

Cotton farmers living close to mill centers will get more.

The price of cotton declined sharply when the government crop estimate was made recently. The production figure was up nearly 3 million bales from private estimates. There is still a cotton shortage. The price drop was due to profit taking.

The government seeks to stabilize the price by the loan method

CHARTER PROPOSED HERE

BENCHES FOR WEARY

COURT HERE URGED TO PLACE SEATS ON LAWN

Seats for tired and heat worn people who come to Cameron every day to do their trading and to gossip with their neighbors, may or may not be provided on the court house lawn. It all depends on how sympathetic the Commissioner Court members will be.

The Daily Herald has made a personal appeal to the authorities to look into the matter of providing seats under the shade of the trees. The cost would not be heavy and it would mean so much to the country people who have no place to rest.

The Daily Herald wants to help the country people. The town people can go home to sit down. Country people will appreciate benches and seats under the trees and this newspaper has good reason to believe the matter will be considered seriously.

Judge Dan Tyson said he would present the matter to the court and is in favor of the seats.

The languor of long afternoons could be made more enjoyable if folks had some place to sit down and cool off. Beds for those who sleep on the lawn will not be provided. That is.

VETS CHAPTER IS NAMED FOR LIEUT. SAM TYSON

A chapter has been granted to Disabled Veterans in Cameron and the Chapter has been named for the late Lieut. Sam Tyson, of the Army Air Corps who lost his life while on a bombing mission over France in the late war.

Lieut. Sam Tyson was the son of Judge Sam Tyson and Mrs. Tyson of Cameron.

Three veterans organizations have been named for heroes of past conflicts. Edwin Hardy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Hardy, lost his life in a plane accident at Cameron and Legion post is named for him. The Veterans of Foreign Wars named their post after Ben Milam, hero of the Texas Revolution.

A. W. Lucas owner of the Milam Coffee Shop has been named Commander of the chapter of Disabled Veterans. The chapter now has 22 members.

Judge and Mrs. Tyson and their daughter, Miss Jane Tyson, will be special guests at the meeting of the Chapter to be held to-night, Wednesday, August 20.

All veterans with a service disability record are cordially invited to attend the meeting and to become members.

Officers of the Chapter are: A. W. Lucas, Commander; H. M. Nance, Adjutant; Valon Fogle, Chaplain; Joe Slavik, Vice Commander; Homer A. Allen, Sr., Vice Commander; H. B. McClellan, State Committeeman.

AMENDMENT AND FUNDS RE-ALLOCATION ISSUES

Voters in Milam County will go to the polls on Saturday, August 23 to pass upon three propositions.

Two propositions will be on the ballot for the entire county while the third will be on the ballot in one area only.

The county wide vote will be on the reallocation of the tax funds to take 10c from the Jury Fund and allocate it to the Road and Bridge Fund. In 1944 a Constitutional Amendment authorized the counties to make this allocation. Many counties went ahead and made the allocation but did not submit the change to the people.

The reason for the reallocation is that the Jury Fund does not need the full 15c levy but the Road and Bridge Fund needs the money. The county tax rate with approval of the proposed change will be allocated as follows: General Fund 25c; Jury (turn to page four)

NEWTON HOSPITAL AND CLINIC TO CONTINUE

The Newton Memorial Hospital and Clinic in Cameron will continue to be operated under the direction of Dr. David Shapiro and Mrs. Ruth Newton and the corps of nurses and employees of the two branches of the medical and surgery practice.

Reports that the clinic and hospital would be closed are unfounded. Dr. W. R. Newton who has entered Texas prison under a two year sentence for an alleged assault to murder charge, will return to the hospital and clinic as soon as his term is served.

Meanwhile the clinic and hospital will continue as usual.

Dr. Newton lost his plea for clemency and reported to the prison at Huntsville 6 hours ahead of expiration time of a 30 day reprieve granted him by the Governor on recommendation of the Board of Pardons.

In connection with the pleas for clemency it has been revealed that 81,000 signed petitions, wrote letters, sent telegrams and made personal contacts.

To thank these friends Dr. Newton has caused to be printed 50 thousand post cards and these cards are to be mailed from the Cameron postoffice within a few days.

Milam Theatre Program Change

Patrons of the Milam Theatre will be interested in the announcement of a change in the program for the week end.

"Song of the Wasteland" with Jimmy Wakely has been canceled and "The Marauders" has been substituted. This is a Hopalong Cassidy picture, always popular entertainment at The Milam.

Livestock In The Vanguard of Prosperity In Milam County Survey Shows; Decline of Cotton Brings Other Crops to Large Income Bracket

By ED FLINN

In Milam County, as in many Texas counties, the income of the people is dependent largely upon livestock and farm products. The financial success of the public can, therefore, be charted on a parallel with the rise and fall of farm prices.

Texas, chiefly an agricultural state with its varied types of soil and climate conditions, is a mecca for crop and livestock raisers.

Milam County has livestock as its leading income producer, closely followed by poultry, and with dairying on a much more moderate scale.

Texas is the leading tomato shipping state, supplying more than one-third of the nation's demand and is

CITY MOVES TO PLACE QUESTION TO PEOPLE

The City Council Tuesday night voted to request Mayor A. W. McCullin appoint a Charter Commission. The duty of a Charter Commission is to write a charter for the city which in turn must be submitted to a vote of the people for adoption. The charter sets up the form of government the people desire.

Cameron is one of few communities left in Texas still operating under the general laws. Authority of the government under general laws is so limited that no city may make progress in dealing with numerous municipal problems that arise.

If the Mayor names a Charter Commission and they write a charter that cures the present ills of the city there should be no objection to its adoption.

Among other things set out in a charter is the manner in which a city may be given authority to extend its limits. Right now the city is facing a problem of grave concern to many patrons of schools who want their children to attend the Cameron Schools.

This one problem is by no means all that can be solved by a Charter. In the main a charter sets up the kind of government and means home rule for the people. Nothing need be placed in a charter that is objectionable to the people. Nothing can be voted that conflicts with state laws.

In its report in October of 1945 the Cameron Planning Board strongly urged the adoption of a charter. The board report cited a charter then recently placed in force in Midland. The Mayor may or may not appoint a charter commission. If he does it will be the first time any portion of the Planning Board Report has been so considered.

Jesse James Is Named Treasurer of National Association Friday

Jesse James, state treasurer of Texas, has been named Treasurer of the national association in their annual meeting in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. James and daughter, Doris Marie, have been on an extended vacation trip into Canada and returned to Boston to be at the national meeting of the Association.

Massachusetts State Auditor Thomas J. Luckley today was president of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers.

Buckley was named last night at the association's 32nd annual banquet here. Other officers elected included.

First vice president, State Comptroller Caesar R. Sebastian of New Mexico; third vice president, State Treasurer Albert S. J. Shaw of Oklahoma; and treasurer, State Treasurer Jesse James of Texas.

second only to Georgia in the production of watermelons. It is also first in spinach.

Last year Texans produced 55,012,000 bushels of corn with a farm value of $83,618,000 compared with 1943's crop of 88,416,000 bushels and $104,331,000. Milam County's production was 69,684 bushels and $49,753.

In cotton, 1,650,000 bales were produced in 1946 in comparison with 5,628,000 in 1926 with Milam County's drop from 69,546 to last year's 9,591 which is the lowest cotton crop in the history of Milam County.

Last year's total cash farm income in Texas of $1,189,301,000 almost doubled 1926's $574,172,000.

TP&L SYSTEM BEING REVAMPED IN CITY

Texas Power & Light Company will revamp its system for street lighting in the mercantile areas, it was announced by Henry Seibman, district manager here.

While the system will in no wise approach the plans once entertained by the people, the new lights will be quite an improvement. The best news of all was the announced plan to remove some of the unsightly poles from the business district, especially on South Houston Avenue.

The Power company and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company are to combine their distribution lines in this area by using the same installations and thus some of the wooden poles will come down.

Cameron's civic failings have been many, none worse than failure to require underground construction of utility lines.

Mr. Siebman said that the new street lights will be some 400 candle power, will be incandescent and of the latest type. The lights will be bracketed to poles and with middle block lights to give uniform lighting. The lights will be uniform in height also.

This is not a city project. The improvements are being made by the TP&L Company voluntarily. The city will pay a larger light bill as a result of the increased size of the lights, but it was said the added cost will not be too heavy.

OFFICERS CLUB HOUSE FROM HOOD CONSIDERED

Members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are currently considering plans for a club house to be located in the central city park.

At the coming meeting of the Posts next week it is likely that definite decision will be made. It was understood that the city has granted space in the east section of the park site for the building.

According to information the veterans plan to buy one of the buildings at Camp Hood formerly used as an Officers Club and will move it to Cameron.

Many of the veterans of both organizations want a meeting place in town and think it will be advantageous over the one now in Wilson-Ledbetter Park.

If the plans are realized the new meeting place will have a recreation room for bowling and other amusements and will be a convenient place for vets to gather and relax and talk over the campaigns of two wars.

880 Dairy Cows Are Disease Tested Here

During the period July 7, to August 1, 880 dairy cattle from 144 herds were tested for tuberculosis by Dr. John A. Phillips, Bureau of Animal Industry, with only two animals showing positive reaction, reports J. W. Stufflebeme, Jr., County Agent. This service was free of charge to Milam county farmers, and Dr. Phillips complimented the dairy owners for their cooperation in this program a success.

Plans are now being made for a campaign to test all dairy cattle in Milam county for Brucellosis, Bang's Disease. A program of this kind is very essential, farmers interested in having their herds tested for this disease should contact the county agent's office at an early date.

WHY REJECT NEW LIMITS FOR CITY?

Many people are puzzled over the City Council's failure to act favorably upon a petition by school patrons offering their property to become a part of the city. A petition signed by 15 property owners who favor coming in and 4 who signed against with others neutral, has not been acted upon favorably. The Council meets to-night.

Why this refusal or failure to act favorably when these property owners and school patrons have so preponderantly signified their desire to become a part of the city? In all 10 school children are involved. They have been attending Cameron schools by transfer. Now that transfers are no longer possible if grades commensurate are taught in the local school, they have sought a legal way to come into the school district of Cameron.

The Council cannot hesitate on the grounds that sentiment is anything like equal. A vast majority of the 25 property owners involved have asked to be taken in.

Are we to have a final and complete rejection of progress? The city would gain in population, in tax revenues without incurring any expense. The school would likewise gain in scholastics and in tax revenues without any additional expense.

The territory proposed to be annexed is uniform and does not in any way create difficult lines in the city's limits.

Will members of the City Council say "No" to 10 children whose education is involved? Will the City Council say "No" to 17 property owners out of 25?

Will the Council members deliberately destroy their usefulness by doing an unkind thing? There is no question of a majority for the majority is on the side of the petition. Certainly no politics are involved. Then, it must be decided on the question of whether the Council wants progress or the status quo. Will our leaders fail us again? We sincerely hope they do not.

Chamber of Commerce operatives with illustrated folders telling us where to go. I immediately begin to look for the trenches in the streets. Colorado Springs, old to tourists, is in reality a fine city but being on the desert is very hot. It is 103 degrees here to-day, July 27. The business section and especially that portion that leads to Manitou Springs resembles a central Texas city on Circus Day with its colorful banners, signs and the like.

Cliff House is unique. It was first established in 1867. The old hostelry burned and in the Seventies the present hotel was constructed. It is entirely wooden except the first floor and basements. The wood work inside, I am told is of mahogany but it resembles yellow pine except the grain structure. Antique collectors would go daffy here looking at things they cannot have. The furniture is antique and of course the plumbing is equal in historic significance. From the balcony that leads off from our room we can see the glacier like crest of Pikes Peak and like the thirsty desert traveler we all but perish from heat within sight of snow. Where are the springs? I didn't see them although I looked about quite a bit. A small stream of brown water rages through the town from springs and melted snows in Ute Pass.

In the great arm chairs on the verandas of the resort hotels along the Spas are hulking brutes with watch chain bellies. They are the windbags of the corridors and much of the talk is about how much money they are making off government goods. Most of the people here are old. A few Manhattan cowboys and Brooklyn Hepeats make merry on the streets. They have their pictures made astride stuffed horses twisted into bucking stance and send them back home.

Fenced in, shut off and commercialized, everything here except the sun baked streets costs you money to see, if you listen to the guides. One firm has purchased 50 new Cadillacs and another 50 new Packards to take you up Pikes Peak at $5 each. The old cog train is still there and has taken more than a million up the mountain. If you talk about going up in your own car you are immediately told of the dangers involved. It is 25 degrees on top of the peak at night. It's hell here below. We drove out to the Garden of the Gods early to escape the heat of mid-day. I have seen as interesting pinacles of stone in Texas. These are red and very soft. If they had been left in Milam county rains would have long ago reduced them to silt. This is arid country and erosion is slow on the desert. I took along a good fly rod hoping to revive a few memories of other days when the loom could weave the sunlit story of the day. Those fishing lakes must be somewhere in California or Wyoming for about all the water I have found goes through this antique plumbing. Never ask a man if he's from Texas. If he is he will tell you and if he's not there's no use in embarrassing him. This is American plan hotel. The dinner to-night featured mountain trout. Now what could be better for a hungry tourist from along the SA&AP railroad. They brought me my trout. Being a good Texan and in my best Claghorn style I had to tell 'em they had done caught all the fish and were now eatin' the minners. We use these things for bait down in Texas, I says.

Somewhat dissolusioned about the grandeur of the west and of cool Colorado, we gave up our reservations despite urgings to stay on, and started back for Texas on Wednesday morning, July 30. We drove back to Pueblo and turned east up the Arkansas River Valley, one of the most fertile regions in the world.

For hundreds of miles irrigated lands produce almost every known variety of crops and quite a few varieties of flowers for the market. Here is also one of the largest sugar beet regions in Colorado.

The Arkansas River, one of the major streams of the west and great tributary of the Mississippi runs through an arid region of the country. What to do with water is a problem long ago solved by the farmer and ranchman of eastern Colorado and Kansas for this great river makes a rich and fertile valley far into the great wheat state of Kansas. Texas might profit by this example of conserving rainfall.

We crossed the old Santa Fe Trail whose tales have intrigued the boys of every generation since it was first blazed. Kansas has few trees and as we drove into the fabulous wheatlands we could better understand why that state is the bread basket of the nation. The temperature is 104 degrees and the hot winds are like a blast out of Hades.

It was with considerable sentimental interest that we pulled up at Dodge City to visit for an hour and to ask questions. For years Dodge was the trails end for the great cattle herds out of Texas to the foot of the rails. It was here in 1888 that my father, William A. White of Nixon, took 1100 head of horses from the Taylor ranch in Kimble county. He was then 22 and a trail boss. In a single year more than 300,000 head of Texas longhorn cattle were marketed. In those days old Dodge was a colorful, bawling town where many of the hard characters of the trail herds died of lead poisoning and Boot Hill, now a site for tourists, received their bodies. Dodge is now a city of some 15,000 and little or no trace remains of the land marks that distinguished it in the old days.

At Greenburg, Kansas, we stopped to see the largest hand dug well in the world. This well was authorized in 1887 not only to supply water for the village but to supply the Santa Fe. The Chamber of Commerce had put up signs but they were all pointing in the wrong direction. We finally located the well. It is not now in use. It is 32 feet in diameter and 109 feet deep and a steel stair-way leads to the bottom of the well and was used to repair the pump that forces the water up to the surface. Almost a half million visitors have stopped and registered in the guest book at the well, situated in a park adjoining an old school building.

Kansas has grown and marketed 6 wheat crops without a failure and the state is prosperous. In this little wheat belt town of Pratt with some 7500 people we found one of the largest and best hotels in south central Kansas and so we have stopped for the night. To-morrow we are going on to Wichita and then to Joplin, Missouri and from there to Ozark Mountains in the hope of salvaging a few days of our vacation made unbearable by the extreme heat in the west.

HURRICANE FAILS TO COOL OFF INTERIOR

Hot weather was in prospect for the week end no rain was in sight. The Gulf Hurricane had failed to cool off the interior of the state, had even failed to bring cooler weather to the coast area for the storm swept inland at Tampico, Mexico.

Weather forecasts indicated clear weather for the baseball game in Cameron Sunday between Granger and Cameron. If the Red Sox lose they are out of the running. They must win two in a row from Granger to stay in.

Cotton picking was getting under way and gins are running at a fair rate to process the pickings. The crop is very short due to the drouth but may exceed the 9000 bale crop of last year.

Fund 5c; Road and Bridge Fund 40c; Court House and Jail 5c making a total of 75c. The rate distribution now allocates 15c to the Jury Fund. No increase in the tax rate will result. The matter is a formality and fixes a legal status for the transfer. The other major proposition is a state constitutional amendment to authorize state schools to issue bonds in the sum of 60 million dollars to be paid off in 30 years. A levy of 5c on the hundred dollar valuation will have to be made but the money will be deducted from the Confederate Pension Fund.

The present tax rate for the Confederate Pension Fund is 7c and if the amendment is approved only 2c will be levied for the Pension Fund. No increase in the state tax rate will be necessary.

The University of Texas and A&M College will get the major share of the money. Some opposition has developed to the proposed amendment on the claim that the smaller schools will not share adequately in the bond money.

University of Texas Alumni and A&M Alumni are actively supporting the bill. Opposition has developed from Veterans of Foreign Wars officials.

A local measure proposes to establish boundaries in small stock law areas in the Gause, Hanover and Marlow areas. Judge Dan Tyson has prepared a statement outlining the area as follows: For the purpose of clarification and future certainty, the status of the stock law has been called for a large area, with natural boundaries that may be readily recognized by the public. The area embraced in this election is as follows: Beginning at the new bridge across Little River one mile south of Cameron, thence down Little River to the Brazos, down Brazos to Highway 43, west on Highway 43 to Milano and north on Highway 36 to the place of beginning.

If this election carries it will be unlawful for hogs, sheep and goats to run at large.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mayes are the happy parents of a daughter born, at Newton Memorial Hospital, at 6:37 a. m. August 17, 1937. She weighed six pounds and four ounces and has been named Catherine Louisa. The mother is a British girl, having come to this country shortly after she married Mr. Mayes.

R. M. KENNEDY BURIED WALKERS CREEK AUG 1

(Delayed Publication)

R. M. Kennedy, 60, former sheriff of Milam county, died at his home in Cameron at 12:45 p. m. Thursday, August 1. He had been ill for a number of years and critically so for several weeks preceding his death.

Funeral services were held at 5 p. m. Friday, August 1 from the Marek-Burns Funeral Home in Cameron with Rev. L. L. Morriss, pastor of First Baptist Church, conducting. The Masons had charge at the cemetery and interment was made at Walkers Creek.

The former sheriff, better known as Max Kennedy, contracted tuberculosis some years ago and had spent considerable time at San Angelo where he had tried to regain his health.

Mr. Kennedy was born July 17, 1877 in the Branchville community, son of the late pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy. He came from a section of the county that has given more men to the office of sheriff than any other. As a boy he spent his years on a farm at Branchville and in the Ben Arnold community and married Miss Mary Henson of that community. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dan Henson, early day settlers. They were married on Christmas evening in 1910. She died in 1918. Of this marriage three children survive as follows: Bert Kennedy of Freeport, Gene Kennedy and Mrs. Frank Richards of Cameron. Later he married Miss Frankie McKenzie of Tracy and she survives along with their two sons, Howard Kennedy and Monroe Kennedy, the latter being the hero of five airborne invasions of the continent of Europe during the late war. One sister, Mrs. Will Walston of Rosebud survives.

Max Kennedy came to the office of Sheriff in 1933 having defeated the late Leonard Blaylock in the primaries of 1932. He first entered politics in 1938 when he was elected Constable of Precinct 7, serving 6 years. He served 6 years in the office of Sheriff and was defeated in 1938 by Valter White.

Max Kennedy was a colorful representative of his era and loved Milam county. When it was apparent he could not regain his health he moved back to Cameron in April of 1947 to spend his last days here. He had many friends.

He was a member of the Baptist church having united at Ben Arnold in 1907 and while he lived in the North Elm Community was a Deacon there. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Yarrington and of the Knights of Pythias in Cameron.

REVIEW OF SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE TEAMS

By WALLACE COLLINS

Bob Woodruff, who moved from Georgia Tech line coach to head man at Baylor, probably won't have the team to win, but could pull upsets.

Backfield material is plentiful with a former Odessa high back, Hayden Fry, standing a good chance to start as quarterback. Other quarterbacks are Jack Price and Bob Burke. More running backs are Dudley Parker, Jerry Mangrum, and Sam Pierce providing his knee heals.

Barney Ham and Gordon Hollon are the ends. At tackle there is Robert Wright and Clark Hieronimus. Woodruff has plenty of guards in James Griffin, Bull Johnson, Bentley Jones, and Clarence McGaw. At center will be Ollie Jack.

The Bears aren't the team for '47, but will be dangerous. Their schedule is: Miami, Arkansas, Texas Tech, Texas A&M, TCU, Texas U, Tulsa, SMU and Rice.

Miss Katie Nisbett of Route 1 visited with friends in the city last week.

MRS. M. C. SAPP IS BURIED IN CAMERON

(Delayed Publication)

Mrs. M. C. Sapp, widow of the late Dr. M. C. Sapp, widely known pioneer Cameron physician, died in San Antonio at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, July 26.

Mrs. Sapp was widely known here for her social and religious activities as a member of the First Baptist Church. She was a native of Arkansas and the daughter of the late pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Wolf. She was related to the late Capt. John B. Wolf and Mrs. Wolf and to Penn Wolf and Wyatt Wolf of Cameron.

Funeral services were held from the Marek-Burns Funeral Home in Cameron at 3 p. m. on Monday, July 28 with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery. Rev. L. L. Morriss, pastor of First Baptist church conducted the funeral service.

Dr. Sapp whose offices were over First National Bank for years, died from a heart attack and following his death Mrs. Sapp continued to make her home in Cameron. The Sapp home was the old Streetman mansion now owned by Glass, the Florist. It is one of the oldest of the early day homes in the city.

Their only son, Pope Sapp, died in Cameron some years ago. Surviving now is an adopted daughter, Mrs. Imogene Dozier of San Antonio; three grand children, Major Clayton Sapp, son of Mrs. Pope Sapp of Cameron, Billy and Sandra Dozier of San Antonio, and one great grand child, Martha Sapp of Corpus Christi.

OUR APPRECIATION

We take this means of expressing our appreciation to the members of the American Legion for the use of their wheel chair during the illness of Mrs. Jekel. It provided a comfortable way for her to get around the house and contributed much to her improvement, so she is now able to walk on crutches. We have returned the chair to the Cameron Herald Office in order that someone else may benefit from its use if they should need it. We think the Legion has contributed much to the public in providing this courtesy.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jekel

THANK YOU

We are taking this method of expressing our sincere appreciation to the merchants and business men in Buckholts for the generous premium they subscribed for us for the first bale of cotton ginned at Buckholts. To each of you who contributed to raising this purse we are truly grateful.

I have been in the Oil Mill business for 41 years and there are less than half as many Oil Mills in Texas today as there were 20 years ago, and a half dozen Oil Mill Interests own 75 to 80 percent of these. Most of the places where the mills were sold, moved or burned have to ship in hulls and meal or go 30 to 50 miles or more for it. The Big Interests only keep hulls and meal for about six months in the year and then sell all their products in early spring in order to settle with the Big Boys in New York.

MRS. LELA PHILLIPS IS RELEASED ON BOND

Mrs. Lela Phillips of Waco was released on bond here late Tuesday charged with the same offense under which Dr. Ola Dee Massey, woman dentist, of Waco, was arrested, a kidnapping charge.

Mrs. Phillips came to Cameron with Dr. Massey and both are to face prosecution here. Mrs. Phillips was questioned late Tuesday.

The charges grew out of the detention of Mrs. R. H. Johnson of Cameron who was taken from St. Edwards Hospital here and to a hospital in Waco.

Mrs. Johnson's home was entered, according to officers, and silverware and other valuables are missing. Entrance to a lock box in a local bank was denied Dr. Massey who had, according to officials, obtained the keys in the Johnson home.

105 HOWITZER AMONG FIELD PIECES COMING

By LLOYD ALBERTSON

Battery C, 239th FA Bn., local unit of the National Guard, will receive a large part of its equipment within the next two weeks, the Herald was informed today by Captain Rudolph Michalka, Commanding Officer of the battery. He had shipping orders from TNG headquarters in Austin, he said, calling for the shipment not later than Sept. 1 of a 105 mm. howitzer, 45 carbines, 6 pistols, a Thompson machine gun, radio and other signal items, haversacks, trenching tools and other field equipment.

Some uniforms for the men already have been received, and the rest have been requisitioned. Still to be obtained are vehicles for the battery. But construction of a motor pool already is well under way with the building of a high wire fence enclosing part of the grounds of the old grammar school building on West Third Street where the battery's temporary armory is located. With the arrival of the howitzer and other equipment, Capt. Michalka said, the battery will be able to get down to some specific instruction as a field artillery unit.

He also called attention to a new radio program being sponsored by the National Guard. This will be a half hour show featuring Ray Block and his orchestra on the Mutual network beginning Thursday, August 14 at 7:30 p. m., with James Stewart as the first guest star. (KTEM, Temple, is the nearest Mutual station to Cameron.) This new program is in addition to the Paul Whiteman "National Guard Assembly" weekly show which is broadcast Wednesday evenings at 7:30 over the ABC net-

Tiny Clifford David Wohleb, Born With Fatal Blood Handicap, Will Now Live Thanks To Dr. David Shapiro At Newton Memorial Hospital

Clifford David Wohleb, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Seraphine Wohleb of Cameron, was born Wednesday, August 6 at the Newton Memorial Hospital.

There was nothing unusual about the announcement of a baby being born at the hospital for many of them are brought into the world at this well equipped hospital. Little Clifford David was born with a fatal blood handicap and therefore will go down in the medical books as a rare case. The important thing is that he will live and is doing fine, thanks to Dr. Shapiro, now directing the medicine and surgery at the hospital.

It is doubtful if this newspaper should attempt a medical description of the case. You wouldn't understand it, neither would we, but your doctor knows. The baby's blood stream was what is known in medicine as a clash between the RH factors of the mother and the father.

When a baby is thus born the antibodies inherited destroy the red corpuscles and the infant becomes anemic. Thanks to the medical profession these babies are now saved.

Before discovery was made of the cause of deaths in such cases fatalities were 100 per cent. Now all such babies are saved if they have proper medical care such as Dr. Shapiro has given Clifford David. By giving transfusions the baby's own blood stream was developed.

Clifford David weighed 7 pounds and 11 ounces when born. Due to immediate care when his condition was discovered, he is on the mend and will grow up a fine healthy boy.

City Marshal and Mrs. Jim McGoldrick, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Deer have returned from several days visit to South Texas and Old Mexico. They spent two days visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Deer of Freer, and were joined there by Mr. and Mrs. Pro Deer of Hebbornville. George and Pro are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Deer. The party reported a wonderful trip.

LAND VALUES TO RISE ALONG LIBERTY CREEK

The projected damsite on Liberty Creek east of Cameron has created much interest here following the project published in the Daily Herald.

Lantrip York, Houston business man and former resident of the Liberty community, is backing the project to create a lake and vacation resort in the wood lands near Liberty.

Miss Vera Fisher of Hanover was in Cameron Thursday and said that the lake, when created, will be of great benefit to that section of the county. Land values along Liberty Creek and for miles in all directions will greatly increase the value and will be in great demand.

Miss Fisher is thinking of going into business in Hanover. Her store would be located some two miles from the proposed lake. However, Miss Fisher has had the store venture under consideration for some time.

As soon as The Herald can contact Mr. York, further details will be given. An error occurred in the first published story. The Texas Power & Light Company is not contemplating a damsite. The community of Liberty and Hanover is now served by the REA.
